About:

The Canadian Institute for Public Safety Research and Treatment (CIPSRT) is hosting a 2-day symposium/showcase that is intended to raise a greater awareness among PSP about mental health and wellbeing along with some of the ways that the issue can be addressed. Specifically, the symposium will showcase the combined efforts of CIPSRT and its Public Safety Steering Committee (PSSC) and the research and initiatives that might be helpful.

The symposium/showcase will include highlights of the research outcomes and related national efforts in support of PSP mental health and wellbeing presented by PSP alongside invited national consortium researchers and other CIPSRT network members. Through these collaborative efforts, we hope to rapidly disseminate reliable solutions and enhance the well-being of PSP, their leaders, and their families.
